

April 2008

Dear Parent

We are nearing the culmination of several years of hard work and effort as your child embarks upon their public examinations. I have outlined the key dates for study leave and returns below:

STUDY LEAVE

Year 11: Last School Day: Thursday 15th May
Year 12: First day of Study Leave Monday 12th May 2008

Year 12 students may attend lessons on the 12th and 13th May as usual as members of staff will be available for revision sessions. Normal teaching will resume for Year 12 on Monday 9th June 2008. Any pupils who have AS level exams after this date should see Miss Pennell to arrange study leave for that particular examination.

Year 13: Last school day Thursday 22nd May 2008

Normal expectations of uniform and behaviour will continue through the examinations. Teaching will continue until study leave commences.

Arrangements for the return of text books and other relevant resources are that they will be collected by staff, in the examinations room at the start of the final exam session in each individual subject.

Failure to return textbooks will result in parents being asked to pay for the cost of replacements.

Further information regarding the examination period and results days will be provided shortly.

Yours sincerely

A. Fowles
Deputy Head
